Village School Art Competition

I was asked by Cynthia Pollard to judge and present the prizes for the 'Stable Shop Village School Art Competition'. There were two £10 shop voucher prizes awarded, one each for the infant and junior classes. I was amazed at the number of pictures I had to judge and spent two evenings trying to decide who the winners should be. Being an electronic engineer who tends to draw everything in straight lines the task was surprisingly difficult but in the end I chose the pictures shown below on the basis that I liked them best.

I would like to thank all the staff at the school for making the competition possible and the Stable Shop for coming up with the idea and supplying the prizes which I suspect have been converted into sweets by now.

If you would like to see the originals, the pictures will be displayed in the village shop.

Auction A Great Success

The Auction of Promises suggested by Kath Stevens as a fund-raising event proved to be a huge success. It was held in the Village Hall on Saturday 7th July and was a fun evening, yet raising an incredible £2,500 from some 61 promises. Bee Delves relaxed everyone on arrival with a free glass of wine and then Iain Low exploited the happy occasion with his wit and humour. We have seen Iain in many roles such as Elvis, Tom Jones and even Robbie Burns, but as an auctioneer, he excelled. Effortlessly, he parted people from their money, pushing prices up and up and everyone seemed happy to oblige. Many of the promises did not make this a difficult task. There were Diane Rowland's 'Jacob lamb ready for the freezer in the Autumn' fetching £115, Malcolm Race's road trip to Cambridge for 2 achieving £80, Tony Short's water colour painting raising £150, Bev Rowland's Sunday roast for 6 making £100, Marie Thomas's West African curry reaching £80 and the Country Cooks' meal selling for £100.

There were other interesting sales - an explanation of the topical Higgs Boson, a night in a bridal suite in Darley Abbey with food and a bottle of champagne, having your name used in one of John Lawton's books, golf croquet for 6 followed by tea at the Beehive, a ride on Flint (Penny Glendinning's horse), brewing and taking home 70 pints of top quality beer and teeth whitening in - yes - Harley Street! It was not surprising that the total raised exceeded our expectations. We all had a most enjoyable evening. We wish to thank everyone who donated promises and everyone for supporting us on the night.

The Parish Council in conjunction with The Community Heartbeat Trust, is organising an awareness session to promote better understanding of the defibrillator and the vital role it can play in our community. Open Gardens Anyone?

Over the years I've visited many ordinary gardens in villages and small towns that have inspired me with new ideas, plants I've not seen before and the reassurance that other gardeners too have lots of weeds and parts of their plot 'under development!' I have also been involved in open gardens in another village and know how much fun this can be as well as a good fundraiser for the community. I am really keen to explore whether there is enough interest and support to run a Kirk Ireton Open Gardens in 2013.

From past experience as well as the gardens themselves I know that cream teas are always popular (and a good earner!) as is a plant sale. Both of these always draw people in. Just to clarify, this is different from the NGS (yellow book) garden scheme and is very much about local gardens and projects in progress to inspire others. In addition it would be great to raise money for the community shop which is of importance to us all.

Having spoken to neighbours it would seem that there is already a spark of interest as currently there are three small gardens willing to open to share their passion for plants with others! I'm guessing that there are many knowledgeable gardeners also who may be persuaded and also those of you who make cakes etc! If you are interested in being involved in any way at all we would be really glad to hear from you.

I will be holding a meeting on Wednesday 5th September at 7.30pm at The Barley Mow to which anyone is invited. If you are unable to come but would like to chat over ideas or offer some support please call in (Yew Tree Cottage) or e-mail yewtreegirls@gmail.com or phone 372056.

Good "IDEAS"

For those in the village who don't know him I would like to tell you about David Denton'. Now 71, he has organised a number of free fell runs in Kirk Ireton for our children and was recently selected to run with the Olympic Torch through Buxton due to his ongoing commitment to a variety of charitable activities. He purchased the torch he ran with and is raffling it to raise money (hopefully £10,000) to build a school in India. It would be lovely if we could help him as our children already have a great school and community.

David runs a charity called "IDEAS" that stands for International Development through Education, Art and Sport and it was set up to help poor families in Kerala, South India, and also to provide educational opportunities for children from poor families, to provide help with medical care and costs, to help provide opportunities to create self-employment projects and to generally help where need arises. To date, IDEAS gives a monthly allowance to over 30 families, fund 2 after-school tuition centres, have bought over 45 goats to provide nutritious milk for families, funded training schemes including a recent one for rural Muslim women to learn how to make artificial flowers to sell on, paid medical bills for many people including 3 men paralysed through industrial accidents, provided play equipment at a school and also arranged for some people from the UK to spend time teaching and generally helping out at a local school. Unlike so many other charities, not one single penny of David's charity is spent on admin (some charities spend as much as 69%).

If you would like to help David build a school, just email him the numbers you would like (you can either choose your own numbers or David can randomly-select some for you). The tickets cost £5 each or 5 for £20. David will let you know how you can pay, his e-mail is: z2r0u0n8z@yahoo.co.uk and the web site is: www.runningwithdavid.com.

The raffle will be drawn on Sunday 4 November 2012.

The Olympic Games And Us.

The Olympic Flame is nearing the completion of its historic journey to the Olympic venue in London. The journey of the Flame has been welcomed with enthusiasm, we have caught a glimpse of great aspirations, hope and endeavour. Our children have been touched by an ideal to carry forward into the world of their destiny.

The Olympic games are a continuing gift to all peoples of the world from ancient Greece. The Olympic Flame is an inheritance from the ancient games. The flame was ignited by the sun and burned until the closing of the games. The flame itself includes the representation of high ideals including purity and the endeavour for perfection.

The flame is extinguished at the close of the Games.

A background to the games dates to 490 BCE when a Greek soldier, Pheidides ran from Marathon to Athens, [approx. 25 miles] to report the outcome of a battle with the invading Persian Army. The route was very difficult so that Pheidides arrived in Athens with bleeding feet and completely exhausted. After telling the people of the Greek's success in battle he fell to the ground dead. In 1896, at the first modern Olympic Games, a race was held of approximately the same length in commemoration of this soldier.

In 1921, Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympic Games, borrowed a Latin phrase from a friend, Father Henri Didon, for the Olympic motto; Citrus, Altius, Fortis. Swifter, Higher,

The Olympic Flame. In Olympia a flame was made by the heat of the sun and was kept burning until the close of the games. Purity and the endeavour for perfection are represented by its light.

Pierre de Coubertin wrote an oath to be recited at each gathering at the beginning of the games. One athlete recites the oath on behalf of all. The oath states; In the name of all competitors, I promise that we shall take part in these games, respecting and abiding by the rules that govern them in the true spirit of sportsmanship, for the glory of sport and the honour of our teams.

Ian Sharpe was sent to boarding School for the blind and partially sighted at the age of 11. The school had its own indoor heated swimming pool. It took four years of dedication and many thousands of metres in the pool before his first success.

He has competed in five Paralympic Games winning 5 silver and 5 bronze medals.

He writes-- I believe that sport can be the greatest unifier in the world. It transcends Borders, cultures, class and religion. The Paralympics have changed our perspectives on life forever."

My love and best wishes, sincerely Sister Merle
