Thank You For Your Support

Many thanks to those who sponsored me to run in the London Marathon last Sunday and helping me to hit my target of £2,000 for Maggie's Cancer Centre. I really appreciate all your kind donations and encouragement. The charity had 25 runners and were really pleased with how we got on and relieved that we all finished in one piece.

As for me, it was a bit of shock to go from running around hilly Kirk Ireton to running with 35,000 other people on a flat course with thousands of people lining the route shouting their encouragement and offering everything from jelly babies and Mars Bars for sustenance. The biggest surprise though was that almost everyone was running for a charity which I hadn't ever realised. The highlight though was seeing a huge Derbyshire flag flown at the start of the race against a perfect blue sky. A good omen I thought.

Now to end with a plug..... it would be great to boost the turn out this year in the Wakes Fun Run. If you haven't ever done it, why not give it a try? We usually have about 80 runners but it would be great to get our numbers over 100. Put it in your diary now, Friday 15th June.

KI Oil Club Reminder

If you are getting close to needing heating oil let me know by 18th May to be included – delivery should be around 22nd May. We have had great success so far in reducing both the price and the number of fuel tankers driving through the village. To book your delivery contact me on 370797 or l.burton@uk2.net.

Stable Shop News

We celebrated our 2nd birthday as a Community Shop at Easter! A special thanks to our volunteers; they are so important to keeping our costs down and the shop open and, of course, many thanks also to our loyal customers. We do have to keep a close eye on costs and we do need your help with respect to uncollected newspapers, bread and other orders. Over the holiday period a number of people forgot to cancel their orders and we had to bear the cost of the newspaper, or discount the bread, bacon etc. in a "freezer sale". So that you are all clear:

- we will return an uncollected newspaper at the end of the shop day.

...Village News...Village Clubs & Societies...Village Events...Village Thanks...

- If you specifically tell us to save it and don't collect, we will charge you for it.

- We will charge for uncollected bread (we have to sell this the day it is delivered).

- We will hold other food items for one day and then put on general sale.

We operate on a very small profit margin, and the fresh food and newspapers are where we have to manage our stock very carefully. Thank you for your support and try and remember to cancel orders before your holiday.

Malcolm Pollard, Management Committee.

Book Inn At Barley Mow

The Book Inn will meet at the Barley Mow at 8:30 on Wednesday 23rd April to discuss Old Filth by Jane Gardam. New members welcome, see you there.

KI International Jiffy Bag Museum

As a consequence of judging one of this year's lit awards (no, not the soddin' Booker) I find myself the reluctant proprietor of a jiffy bag museum. All shapes and sizes, but mostly book shaped, used once. If you sell on Amazon or e-Bay you might have a use for them. There are 40 to 50 bags all absolutely free. Come and get 'em.

Bev's Walk & Farmhouse Tea

On Sunday 20th of May I am organising a family walk (good dogs also welcome) starting at Bottom Green in Kirk Ireton at 2pm. It is a different walk this year and will finish at Callow Hall Farm where you can enjoy a nice farmhouse tea, adults £5 and children £2. Children will be able to watch cows being milked and they may be some calves to feed.

For those who would just like to have tea come to the farm at 4pm. If you would like to take part please call me on 01629 822688 or text on 07849 502200 so I can have an idea of the numbers.

New Wakes Week Events

This is just a short insert to let everybody know that a full Wakes Week's events sheet and programme will be circulated by Mac on behalf of KICA next week. This year looks like it will be even more exciting than usual with several new events including: Tug-of-War, Village Hanging Basket completion, Open Mic Night in the marquee, being included. If you would like to help or contribute then come along to the next KICA meeting on the 10th May at the Barley Mow.

Up & Running . . . and we are!

After our initial meeting sharing running tales and aspirations over a glass of wine or two, our newly formed group of runners set off this evening for our first run together and... we all arrived home still able to walk!

We are a group with very different experiences and abilities; some who like road, others trails, some with marathon experience others who are just starting...again - but the common factor is that we aim to support each other to reach goals, running together when we can.

If any other women fancy joining us (even for the glass of wine bit) you are more than welcome. Beginners or those with experience...the more the merrier. We're looking at finding a local 5K in a month or so that we can all run together and we'll let you know how we get on.

If you want to find out more...or join, call us on 372056 or e-mail yewtreegirls@gmail.com

Emma

The items this month have made me feel quite guilty, what with James running the London Marathon, the Yew Tree girls organising a women's running group, Bev arranging a family walk to Callow Hall Farm and the Zumba group (whatever that is – sounds like some sort of Zulu initiation ceremony) every Thursday night in the village hall. Hold on... I'll just sit down and have another glass of wine until the guilt passes away... Ahh that feels much better!

I'm tele-editing the Newsletter again this month so there's none of those exciting quiz items I know you all like so much. I'll set a double dose next month. Cheers for now.

... Kirk Ireton Church & Chapel News ...

A message from The Revd Kara Werner

The Easter weekend is not yet over and folk are not yet back at work – and here I am fast forwarding to thoughts about May and its treasure store of Rogation and the Ascension and Pentecost. The first of these has very strong connections for us who live and work in a rural context. The others complete the Easter season. The first acknowledges a dependence upon God for all our needs and the thankfulness that draws from us. The others together seem to imply the reverse; Jesus is at last leaving the disciples and therefore us too, to the business of carrying on his work on earth without his physical presence there to steer the course. Panic might be the understandable, if not entirely useful, response here.

Alongside these events there are others that occupy our attention and our prayers. All annual meetings will have been held and office holders elected or re-elected. These folk who 'on their watch' keep going the spiritual, the social, the fabric, the financial, the pastoral... who enable each village community to retain that visible focus of God's presence, that often also beautiful building people wish to get married in, that usually still place people often just want to sit in, that meaningful place that looks after our loved ones no longer with us. ... that place that welcomes the young and old, the confident and fragile, that invites both faith and exploration. It is my opportunity to thank these folk formally and publicly, but significantly also to draw attention to the rather obvious reality that they, and I, will not be here for ever. Who are the new office bearers who will do all that in years to come – not they but perhaps we? It may surprise you that to be on the PCC you only have to be 16, to be a churchwarden only 18, and people even younger can help out too! May we all know God's blessing as we seek to respond to his love for us by serving his world.
